Lewis & Clark Law School

Online Master of Laws in Environmental, Natural Resources, & Energy Law

Highly-Ranked Environmental Law Program —U.S. News & World Report

Turn your passion into your profession.

Join one of the top environmental law programs in the country and gain the legal expertise and experience to tackle the environmental, natural resource, and energy challenges of today and tomorrow.

The Online LLM in Environmental, Natural Resources, and Energy Law builds on Lewis & Clark Law School's nationally recognized post-JD environmental law program. It is specifically designed for attorneys who want to address today's global environmental legal issues. The online courses are taught by some of the nation's leading scholars.

- The courses are offered 100% online, and coursework is interactive and flexible.
- Tuition awards and financial aid are available.
- Students can interact and network with students from around the world.
- Courses are engaging and include online meetings with professors and classmates.
- Taught by many of the same professors who teach in our residential program.

Lifetime
Career
Services

50+
Years of training leaders in environmental law

LLM GRADUATE TESTIMONIALS

"Take advantage of Lewis & Clark's expertise —the professors, students, and staff have a wealth of knowledge in environmental law."

AUSTIN WATKINS

"The online program gives the participant the opportunity to plan the program around their professional life. This ensures engagement in professional development without uprooting one's life."

FRANKLIN LAGAT

"The professors are experts in their respective fields and a joy to learn from. The lectures are high quality and the assignments provide opportunities to engage with the material, fellow classmates, and professors regularly."

KRISTYN JUDKINS

To earn a LLM in Environmental, Natural Resources, and Energy Law from Lewis & Clark Law school, students must complete a total of 26 credit hours of coursework for U.S. students, and 28 for international students. Students can choose from the wide variety of courses listed below.

These hours will include required and elective courses. Lewis & Clark Law School's online LLM program is a great option for busy professionals and for students with family obligations.

Some of the courses include:

- Administrative Law
- Environmental Law
- Emerging Topics
- Introduction to US Environmental Law & Legal Studies (for international students)
- Energy Law: Electricity Regulation
- Natural Resources Law & Science
- Ocean & Coastal Law

- Environmental Justice
- Hazardous Waste Law
- International Environmental Law
- Water Law
- Legal Research: Environmental Law
- Individual research paper on environmental topic of student's choice

*Please note these courses are not listed in the order that they need to be taken. A more in-depth course structure, and course descriptions are available upon request.

Expertise and Curriculum to Enhance Your Environmental Law Career

With this degree, you will gain an excellent foundation for practicing, teaching, or policy-making in the environmental, natural resources, and energy law field. Our graduates have gone on to work in fulfilling roles around the world including careers in private practice and at the Environmental Defense Center, Alaska Department of Law, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, National Oceanic Atmospheric Administration, and more.

Environmental Law Experts & Faculty

Lewis & Clark's environmental law faculty are leading the charge on issues such as climate change, endangered species, energy law and policy, and more. At Lewis & Clark Law School, our students come first.

Empowering Advocates for the World

Lewis & Clark Law School

Online LLM in Environmental, Natural Resources, & Energy Law

Lawyers play key roles in solving some of the world's most complex environmental challenges.